BACKGROUND

The Rock Hill-Fort Mill Area Transportation Study (RFATS) is the Metropolitan Planning Organization for transportation planning within the urbanized areas of Rock Hill, Tega Cay, Fort Mill, and the panhandle of Lancaster County, South Carolina.

In recent years, RFATS has identified needs and opportunities for transit services in the region; and in year 2015, RFATS completed an Urbanized Area Transit Implementation Study that furthered the assessment of transit options for the improvement of mobility within the urbanized areas. As a result of the study, the City of Rock Hill was identified as one of the areas that currently meet the necessary characteristics to support public transit services.

If a qualified professional or firm meeting the City's needs is identified through this Request for Qualifications (RFQ) process, the City would expect to enter into a contract for professional services for a term of one year, which may be extended for up to two additional years at the City's discretion based on performance, need and the availability of funding.
