PPE & Cleaning Supply Resources

The following resource information is provided to assist our customers in determining the best path for returning to work. It is important to note that what all States are currently experiencing is an extreme shortage in the availability of certain high demand items in the worldwide supply chain, not a shortage of resources where to obtain them.

Medical supply providers are typically the source for most of these items. However, medical supply providers are still operating restrictions to provide PPE to those areas with the most need before filling other orders.

If you are a medical facility that has a long history of ordering PPE from a medical supply company, you will have a higher priority than someone just wanting to buy masks for their office staff. If you are just trying to buy masks for your office staff, you must understand the medical facilities have a higher priority and you may have to wait longer.
